

CONTINUING EDUCATION COVENANT

Refreshment, encouragement, support, excitement, renewal, improvement, reinvigorate, restore, rejuvenate, stimulate are words that bring joy to ELCA rostered leaders: pastors/associates in ministry/deaconesses/diaconal ministers. All these words describe the wonderful outcomes of planning your continuing education with your key congregational leaders or agency supervisor.

Continuing education for rostered leaders is even more than all these words. It is a spiritual act, a major stride toward “growing in grace and in the knowledge of God.” This begins when the rostered leader and congregation leaders enter into a “Continuing Education Covenant” for mutual leadership and support.

PLANNING YOUR CONTINUING EDUCATION

Four steps to the covenant

1. Gather a small group of people who care about you and the church's ministry. This could be the mutual ministry committee, the executive committee, or a designated group. Invite people who are committed to your leadership growth and to the shared ministry. You could also have a continuing education conversation with your supervisor or meet with peers and a lay leader who will both affirm and challenge you.

Get ready for the meeting. Pray and dream about your best case scenario. Explore opportunities. Talk to colleagues and peers. Find out about leading congregations or agencies that are doing exemplary work in similar settings. Secure information from continuing education centers, college and seminary brochures, materials about ELCA seminars, business type conferences, lectureships. Discover topics that challenge and strengthen you, your family, your congregation, your agency. Check the categories at the center of the Continuing Education Covenant.

2. Have the meeting. Express your appreciation and offer the chairperson an agenda. Example:

General Subject: Strengthening the Ministry

Discussion points:

- Identify two or more ministry activities where your leadership is a key factor.
- Talk about what is going well and what needs some help.

Examples: Sunday morning adult Bible study; outreach to young families, etc.

Share your dreams about continuing education and how it may relate to these ministries.

Distribute the materials.

3. Talk about the opportunities for funding. (Congregations in the Indiana-Kentucky Synod are expected to contribute a minimum of $700 annually and the rostered leader to contribute $300. There is also continuing education funds available from the Indiana-Kentucky Synod to supplement these contributions.)

Ask for suggestions and write down a brief plan. When there is mutual agreement, ask them to covenant and pray with you to achieve the plan.

4. Formalize the mutual commitment by signing the Continuing Education Covenant.

Fill out the covenant and make copies, sending the original to the synod office:
